

Western Evening
Herald

Seven Days At The Silbersteins,
by Etienne Leroux (W. H.
Allen. 21s.).

TRANSLATED from the Afrikaans by Charles Eglington, this is a comic fantasia.
Although based on South Africa,
it could be anywhere.

To a large estate comes a young man to meet his bride at a week-long house party. He undergoes during this "prelude to marriage" a weird, exciting initiation.

The novel won South Africa's highest Afrikaans literary award in 1964.

SEVEN DAYS AT THE